THE CIVIL SERVICE RULES STAND

The Territories to be Governed by Home M[illegible]—Reforms Instituted by Secretary Lamar—Society News and Gossip

DORMAN B EATON INTERVIEWED

WASHINGTON March 15.—Dorman B. Eaton president of the civil service commission, in response to an inquiry to-day as to the enforcement of the civil service rules by the new administration, said to an associated press reporter "Vacancies are being regularly filled under the rules There is not the least sign of examinations being arrested or the rules being disregarded When congress, at the session just closed, made an increase of the appropriation for carrying out the work of the commission, it knew the policy of the incoming president, and must have expected the work of the commission to go on That work does go on regularly and I feel sure it will go on Very many office-seekers, who lingered here some time after the 4th of March, have reached the same conclusion and have returned home Since that date examinations have been held at Cincinnati, Nashville, Memphis, Brooklyn, New York and Washington Applicants have been notified that examinations will soon be held in southern and western states. Examinations and appointments go on as heretofore in the customs service and for clerical positions in the postoffice Excessive numbers are applying to the examiners, especially for service at Washington, under the belief that arbitrary and partisan removals are being made, or are soon to be made I have heard of no case of such removals and I do not think any such removals will be made There will doubtless be some removals for good cause, but not enough to give place to half those seeking to be examined The old time partisan proscription is not, in my opinion, to be renewed Our politics are now more civilized, and public opinion more formidable. Within the last ten days the commission has made certifications for filling eleven vacancies in the departments at Washington, which is about the usual rate, and four promotions and four permanent appointments, after probations had been made from among those selected under the rules Several of these cases were in the treasury department."

THE WORK BEFORE CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, March 15—The senate is likely to devote some of its spare time the present week to consideration of foreign affairs It is expected two or three treaties of minor importance, and in respect to which there can be little difference of opinion, will be reported in executive session Among them will probably be the treaty relating to the boundary lines between this country and Mexico, and the treaty providing for readjudication of the Weil claim Manderson's resolution calling for information regarding Mexican-American affairs may also be reported and discussed The more important of the pending treaties have been withdrawn, and the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty and that relating to the international patent rights system will be held back until the regular session The "backbone" resolution will doubtless be further discussed to-morrow It is probable that all public business which the senate has in hand will be disposed of within three or four days, and the body will then only await the pleasure of the executive, and will adjourn as soon as his important nominations have been received and acted upon

GOOD NEWS FOR THE TERRITORIES.

WASHINGTON, March 15—A delegation of gentlemen representing all the territories except New Mexico visited the White house yesterday, to present their views in regard to territorial government. There were in the delegation John Hailey of Idaho, Judge Mead of Arizona, M H Day of Dakota, Judge J A. Kuhn of Washington territory, Delegate Toole of Montana, Judge Merritt of Utah, and J W McCormick of Montana, all members of the national committee Mr Hailey acted as spokesman for the party, and said they came to learn what the administration was going to do in territorial affairs. Mr Cleveland replied, briefly but clearly, that he should appoint to territorial offices men from the territories He also clearly pledged himself to listen to the recommendation of democrats within the territories, and not be decided in his choice of men for governors by outside pressure.

VESSELS ORDERED TO CENTRAL AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, March 14—The secretary of the navy to-day directed by telegraph the commanders of the Wachusett and Shenandoah of the North Atlantic squadron, now near New Orleans, to proceed at once to Central America. The commanders of the three vessels of the squadron remaining near New Orleans were directed to hold themselves in readiness to execute a similar order Of the North Atlantic squadron three vessels, the Galena, the Powhattan, and the Swatara, are now in Central American waters, where the squadron will be held subject to orders from Washington These movements are understood to have direct reference to the endeavor of General Barrios to make himself "supreme military chief of Central America."

SOCIETY NOTES.

WASHINGTON, March 15—It is rumored that Blaine will give a dinner to President Cleveland some evening during the coming week

Senator Dolph's family will remain here until June, before starting back to Oregon. Miss Agnes Dolph spent inauguration week with her parents, and will come again for a short visit at Easter time In June she graduates from Mr Reed's school in New York, and will make her debut in society next winter

General and Mrs. Miles left to-day for Fort Vancouver, regimental headquarters of the department of the Columbia, of which the general is in command For the past fortnight they have been the guests of Senator and Mrs Cameron

MAKING SOME REFORMS

WASHINGTON, March 14—Secretary Lamar today directed the chief clerk and superintendent of the interior department to "sell at public auction all horses, carriages and equipments which are the property of the interior department, excepting those used for trucking purposes, the proceeds of the sale to be converted into the treasury, and the sale to take place as soon as consistent with the interests of the public service." The result of this order will be a return to their regular duties of seven clerks who have been employed as drivers. A similar order has been made by Attorney General Garland.

SLATER'S CHANCES PRONOUNCED GOOD

WASHINGTON, March 15—The fight for the commissionership of the general land office has about narrowed down to ex-Senator Slater of Oregon, ex Representative Sparks of Illinois, and Surveyor General Willey of California. George W Julian has retired from the race though he was endorsed by the Indiana delegation Slater has a very strong senatorial influence, and the best opinion is in his favor All of the papers of this city now agree that Slater is pretty certain of the appointment, and the Californians are even willing to admit it.

THE AXE FALLS

WASHINGTON, March 15—Among the list of special agents and inspectors of customs whose services have been dispensed with, under the orders issued yesterday by the secretary of the treasury, are James G Horne at Port Townsend, Washington territory, and W R Shackelford at Seattle, Washington territory, special inspectors

GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION

NEW YORK, March 15—Drs Sands and Shrady, consulting physicians in Grant's case, visited Grant's residence this afternoon and held a consultation with Douglass It is understood they fully endorsed the treatment of the patient adopted by Drs. Barker and Douglass General Grant was in a comfortable condition The local disease is believed, for the present, to be stationary

NEW YORK, March 15—General Grant slept more last night than the preceding night. He fell into a sound slumber at 4 this morning and did not awaken until 10 His condition is about the same. The general does not suffer much from pain, but complains of a little soreness. He takes food more plentifully, and consumed a chop this morning The damp weather has had no injurious effect upon the patient. The affected part of his throat is treated with iodoform, but the use of cocaine has been discontinued. The general says his insomnia is not due to pain. The cancer [illegible] is not interfering with his breathing and [illegible] not particularly impaired his voice or speech.

CLEARING HOUSE RETURNS

BOSTON, March 15.—Tables compiled from special dispatches to the Boston Post, from the managers of the leading clearing houses in the United States give clearances for the week ending March 14 with percentage of decrease in comparison with the corresponding week last year totals $437 461 534, a decrease of 14.2.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, March 15—North Pacific coast, fair weather Southern portion, local rains. Northern portion of California, fair weather.

THE OKLAHOMA QUESTION

Representatives of the Boomers Advise them to Await Negotiations

WASHINGTON, March 14—In view of the proclamation of the president relating to the Oklahoma country, General James B Weaver, congressman-elect from Iowa, and ex-Congressman Sydney Clarke of Kansas representing the Oklahoma settlers, have sent the following telegram

WASHINGTON March 14

W F Couch Arkansas City Kansas—The president is of the opinion that further negotiations with the Creeks and Seminoles as contemplated by the recent action of congress, is necessary to authorize settlement of Oklahoma His proclamation yesterday is intended to eject cattle syndicates on the one hand and suspend on the other settlement of the country pending negotiations. We have earnestly urged upon the secretary of the interior in view of the complexities of the situation to proceed at once to conclude negotiations, and to place upon the commission a representative of the settlers. We deem it best for all parties to await the contemplated action. It must be understood that all the corrupt conspiracy by which the land in the Oklahoma country and the whole Indian territory have been illegally occupied by cattle kings is strongly defended here by powerful financial influences. This conspiracy has been for years and is now represented here by persons holding high positions in the government. These men having access to avenues of public opinion and the privileges of constant communication with all departments of the government are persistent in their misrepresentations. They who attack here any of the great wrongs which have fastened themselves upon the government undertake a task of great magnitude. But we shall continue to urge, with confidence upon President Cleveland's administration a reversal of the bad policy of former years. The only safety for the people is plainly defined public opinion, rising above all party distinctions and demanding that the public domain shall be held sacred as a heritage for actual settlers

SYDNEY CLARKE
J B WEAVER

THE BOOMERS ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

ARKANSAS CITY, March 14.—The president's proclamation was received through the newspapers at noon to-day. Great disappointment and indignation was manifested among the boomers here, who had expected the action would be favorable to their cause. A meeting was held at the camp in the afternoon, when over 1000 colonists were present. Resolutions were adopted without a dissenting voice

"That in our opinion President Cleveland has not been made acquainted fully with the situation which we had hoped and believed would be done before he made any public utterance and we yet demand a thorough and speedy investigation and explanation as to why settlers are ejected and rich syndicates allowed to remain and further we condemn the misrepresentations of General Hatch in stating to the secretary of war that there were no trespassers now in Indian territory. We demand of President Cleveland an explanation of the laws and treaties governing said Oklahoma lands by which he claims said lands are Indian lands, and we impatiently wait a most speedy reply."

The resolutions were immediately telegraphed to the president. Captain Couch said it was to be hoped that every man would remain in camp until an answer could be received. None of the boomers left town to-day, but fifty were arrested Thirteen hundred are here now

FRIGHTFUL RAILWAY DISASTER

ARLINGTON, Tex, March 15.—While the east-bound mail on the Texas Pacific railroad was crossing a creek near Arlington this morning, the bridge gave way, and the engine, mail and baggage cars were precipitated into the creek. The fireman is missing, and is supposed to be under the engine Woodruff, baggage-master, and the route agent, name unknown, were seriously injured, and were taken to the company hospital at Fort Worth. The strikers visited the scene of the wreck this afternoon and went manfully to work, clearing and repairing the track. Fireman J G Hobeck jumped from the tender and was carried under and killed. Engineer S. Roach was badly injured Baggage-master Woodruff and Mail Agent Stewart were both wounded seriously

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ORGANIZED

NORTH YAKIMA, W T, March 15—One of the largest religious meetings ever held in Yakima valley occurred in this place to-day, the purpose being the organization of a Presbyterian church by Rev Mr Thompson. An organization was effected with thirty-four charter members, and $900 was subscribed for the erection of a church $100 coming from W S Ladd of Portland This sum is independent of a liberal donation from the railroad company, which has also given the new church two building lots.

REDUCED RATES ON FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15—The Transcontinental railroad association will announce tomorrow a special reduced tariff on green fruits and vegetables from the Pacific coast to points east. The rate per 100 pounds by freight train to St. Louis and New Orleans will be $1 45, and to Chicago $1 50 It is expected this reduction will greatly encourage the shipment of fruits from here to the east.

HOUSE BILL NO 86.

The legislature has given us this amongst other good things a bill requiring the instruction of all children in public schools in physiology and hygiene with special reference to the effect of alcohol and other narcotics on the human system. It behooves us to make a good use of a good thing. The law is only strong as long as it is strengthened from behind by the will of the people Let each [illegible] that his children be properly taught on this [illegible] to the child of a knowledge of the laws of life And part of these laws is that alcohol is a poison as a deadly and undermines the fabric in its three-old nature—body soul and spirit. Let only such directors be elected as will appoint teachers who from their known moral characters and opinions on these subjects will be capable of working out this law in all its ramifications There is much character building and mind training apart from text books. The teacher, as a living text preaches the strongest kind of sermon from the impress of his own nature Then there are the books to handle Dorman Steele's Physiology for the older grades, Mrs Mary Hunt's (endorsed by A B Palmer M. D., L. L. D.) published by A S Barnes New York and Chicago for intermediate classes; and there is yet a book in preparation for the youngest children by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union New York. These books should be discussed at the Teachers institutes that are likely to meet soon, seeing the winter inclemency prevented them. To quote Mrs Mary Hunt's own words at the Boston Monday lecture in Fremont temple February 23

"The keystone of the whole great arch of our government is the capacity of the individual citizen for self government. We expended and consumed last year nearly one thousand million dollars for beverages aptly styled Satan in solution because of their power to destroy the self governing capacity of the drinkers. Why are we spending our money thus? Asking all along the line of the consumers we get an honest answer 'It is I like it.' The evil then is one of appetite—personal imperious appetite for a chemical poison. If these drinkers [illegible] unchecked the limitations before us as a nation fixed by certain scientific laws If the conscience and understanding are enlightened the individual citizen will be capable of self government." This was the foundation idea of the republic Vermont, Michigan New Hampshire New York Rhode Island and now thank God Oregon propose to test the power of enlightened understandings and consciences to control this evil A brighter to-morrow is dawning for the inhabitants of these states.

Once in a while there is a delicious innocence in foreign advices as for example when we read that General Sir Peter Lumsden will command the escort which will accompany the British scientific exploring expedition into Afghanistan. The escort will be composed of picked troops from the Anglo-Indian army and will number about 50,000 men Meantime Russia has developed a similar scientific zeal and has a corps of 100,000 skilled metallurgists moving in the same direction. When these eminently scientific bodies meet the world will hear a great deal about—Afghanistan.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Missouri Pacific Yields to the Strikers.

ITS TERMS NOT YET ACCEPTED.

War Between Russia and England only a Question of Time—Rumored Fall of the Kassala Garrison—War Notes.

ST. LOUIS, March 15.—The conference appointed to be held here to-day, between leading officials of the Missouri Pacific railway company and governors and other representatives of the states of Missouri and Kansas, on the subject of the strike existing on that company's lines, took place this afternoon After a long discussion, during which the situation was fully set forth, the representatives of the two states formulated a proposition, which was immediately accepted by the railway officials. Subsequently Vice President Hayes issued a circular, which has been sent to the officers and agents of the company at all affected points, and which tells the whole story, as follows

The following suggestions have been presented to the undersigned as a solution of the difficulties at present impeding operation of these railways

To Captain R. S Hayes first vice president and chief executive officer of the Missouri Pacific railway company and associated roads

WHEREAS On account of a strike among certain employes of the Missouri Pacific railway company, in the states of Missouri and Kansas resulting in the stoppage of all freight traffic over said company's lines in said states to the great detriment of the business interests and the rights of the people of said states, and the continuance of which endangers the public peace and safety of the company's property, and

WHEREAS The undersigned representing the states above named anxious to restore harmonious relations between said companies and its employes and to restore to the public unobstructed use of its lines do recommend and request said company to restore to its striking employes in Missouri and Kansas the same wages paid them in September 1884 including one and a half price for extra time worked and to restore all of said striking employes to their several employments without prejudice to them on account of the strike

Believing that the foregoing will constitute a just and fair settlement we recommend their acceptance by the striking employes as well as by the Missouri Pacific Railway Company

JAMES A. MARTIN, Governor of Kansas

JOHN S MARMADUKE Governor of Missouri

For the purpose expressed by the above state officials and to open the usual avenues of commerce and with a spirit of amity and harmony towards the employes of these companies this is to give notice that the rates of wages and terms above specified will go into effect on Monday March 16th, and be in effect from and after that date Hereafter said rates will not be changed except after thirty days notice thereof is given in the usual way

R. S HAYES First Vice President.

The heads of departments to which the above applies will act in accordance to the provisions of the above circular

WM HOXIE Third Vice President.

AWAITING ORDERS.

KANSAS CITY, March 15—Missouri Pacific strikers here will await orders from the general committee before returning to work. The local committee at midnight was still in telegraphic communication with that committee at Sedalia. Freight cars on the Missouri Pacific side tracks, between here and Sedalia, are ready to move when the strike is ended. The company has taken freight all week and has loaded a large number of cars gathered here to send out after grain, and as fast as they have been filled they have been made up into trains and sent to different points on the line, where they remain in charge of their crew, ready to start them for their destination the moment the trouble is over

THE STRIKERS UNDECIDED.

ST. LOUIS, March 15.—Specials from different points in the west and south state that the strikers received Vice President Hayes' circular very coldly Meetings were held at various places to-night, but, so far as reported, no definite action was taken The men will meet again to-morrow and determine what they will do It was stated here to-day by one of the railroad commissioners present at the conference that the strike has been engineered from Pittsburg, that all orders have emanated from there, and that the Knights of Labor have directed and controlled all movements of the men. It is understood the strikers, before accepting terms of compromise, are considering several proposed stipulations—one that the restoration shall extend to all strikers in the Gould system, another that engineers who were relieved for abandoning at the request of the strikers be restored, and several minor stipulations.

BROTHERHOOD OF LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS.

ST. LOUIS, March 15—Special dispatches from Sedalia say that the brotherhood of locomotive engineers held a long secret session there yesterday afternoon, but the precise nature of the proceedings is not known. It is asserted, however that after the session adjourned, Mr Fitzgerald, chairman of the grievance committee of the brotherhood, telegraphed to the organizations at St. Louis, Little Rock, Atchison, Parsons, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Palestine, Marshall, Denison, Big Springs and other points on the Gould system, to meet at the Laclede hotel, St. Louis, to-morrow (Monday), for conference. Mr Arthur, chief engineer of the brotherhood, also telegraphed that this action is regarded as an indication that unless the present trouble with shopmen is speedily adjusted the engineers will join them in a formal manner. Brakemen and firemen also held a formal meeting but they keep their proceedings secret. It is believed, however, they have matured plans to co-operate with the engineers whenever the latter decide to take action.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

THE ANGLO RUSSIAN TROUBLE.

WAR ONLY A QUESTION OF TIME.

NEW YORK, March 15—A cable special to the Sun from London says The government has eaten leek twice within a week, without much improving the situation The concessions granted Bismarck simply proved the efficacy of Bismarckian bullying, and will whet but not satisfy German appetite. The submission to Russia, while more complete, is even less fruitful of good. The value of the statement of Gladstone that the government is ready to fight unless the Russians retire is shown by the agreement. Russia will not retire one inch, she has gained her point, and means to keep it, and Gladstone will not risk a war to dislodge her Nobody believes, however, that war can be prevented. The Russians are hurrying troops by all lines communicating with the Afghan frontier, and the English are rapidly massing their forces at the mouths of passes leading from India. Both English officials and the generals of the army in India have long been expecting these movements of Russians. General Roberts and other eminent soldiers have been, for months, informing Joseph Owen and other anti-Russian statesmen that Lord Dufferin's real mission was to counteract the foe whose dark ways he learned when ambassador at St. Petersburg Another defect of the Gladstone agreement is that Afghanistan has apparently not been consulted, and this may engender suspicion It is feared also that Russian gold has been at work, and possibly at an auspicious time the Russians may enter treason-opened gates at Herat. Then there will be war Therefore the difficulty has been scotched, no killed. Diplomatic experts expect that the crisis will be again acute in June.

WARLIKE PREPARATIONS

TEHERAN, March 15—A letter from Askabad, dated February 24, says Communications between strangers and people in the outside world is closely supervised. Troops and stores are going forward daily, en route to Merv The soldiers are previously blessed by priests, who tell them to fight valiantly against the czar's enemies. Civilians and military men openly discuss the likelihood of a declaration of war with England. There is great excitement here. It is stated that 16,000 troops have been ordered to Merv. The railway from Kizilarvat to Merv is being pushed with the utmost rapidity. Great difficulty is experienced in inducing workmen to go to Merv, as they fear they will be killed by the British or Afghans.

A letter from Sarakhs, dated March 2, states that five batallions of Russian infantry and three batteries of artillery are en route from Bokhara to Merv, and a small party of Cossacks recently attempted to traverse the Zulfikar defile, but were prevented by force.

LUMSDEN REACHES HERAT.

TEHERAN, March 15.—It is reported that Sir Peter Lumsden has arrived at Herat, and Afghans are actively engaged in fortification of the city Small bodies of Russians hold the wells and roads between Paralehs and the Murghab river There are several hundred Cossacks near Pulkhikhatum, the most southerly point nearest Herat occupied by the Russians. The Russian forces occupying Merv consist of a battalion of infantry, a regiment of dragoons, and some Cossacks. At Askabad there are about 8030 troops of all arms. One Russian brigade and a convoy of military stores are en route from Caucasus to Askabad. Afghans here believe an offensive and defensive alliance between England and Turkey would have the effect of alienating the Turcomans from Russian authority.

BISMARCK ANXIOUS FOR PEACE.

BERLIN, March 15.—It is stated that Bismarck since the amicable settlement of the recent troubles with England, is using his whole influence with Russia to avert war

RUMORED COLLISION.

CALCUTTA, March 15.—There are reports here of an actual collision between Russians and Afghans. The government is reticent concerning frontier news.

THE SOUDAN.

RUMORED FALL OF KASSALA.

LONDON, March 15—Special editions of several papers were published to-day, announcing, on the authority of a private telegram from Suakem, that Kassala had fallen and the garrison been massacred. The report is not believed in official circles, as government dispatches from Suakem, received to-day, make no mention of such occurrence. Massowah advices to March 10 say no news had been received from Kassala since March 1.

AFFAIRS AT SUAKEM.

SUAKEM, May 15.—General Ewart has arrived. Work on the Suakem-Berber railway has begun. Osman Digma has offered to give money and stop night attacks if the British return the body of his standard bearer. Firing last night was the heaviest and most continuous the British have been subjected to here

TO MARCH ON KHARTOUM.

ALEXANDRIA, March 15—An Arabian paper reports that 15,000 men in Abyssinia are being prepared for an advance upon Khartoum.

CANADA.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, March 15.—It is reported on apparently good authority that President Stephen of the Canadian Pacific railway has written Premier McDonald that unless the government come at once to the assistance of the company the work of construction will be stopped.

The government is considering a scheme to fit out armed schooners, to watch the fishing grounds of maritime provinces, and prevent American fishermen taking fish in Canadian waters.

THE WAR IN CHINA.

CHINA WANTS AMERICA TO MEDIATE.

PARIS, March 15.—The Gaulois says the Chinese government has asked for the mediation of the United States with France, but President Cleveland is not disposed to intervene.

HANGED THREE TIMES

Masked Men Give a Thieving Chinaman a Few Pointers at Semiahmoo

J F Lamphiear of Semiahmoo came down to Whatcom on Wednesday with a prisoner Chinaman who now occupies a cell at the jail. Last Monday the prisoner who answers to the Melican name of Jimmy crossed from British Columbia to Murne's logging camp and took a package of goods. Attempting to return with his plunder, he was stopped by the camp boss. Jimmy attempted to use a shotgun to persuade the boss to let him go but the plucky Frenchman wrested the gun from him and took him prisoner On Tuesday the Chinaman was tried for committing assault with deadly weapon and was bound over by Justice Rogers to appear at the June court. Desiring to relieve the county of expense in the matter, twelve masked men relieved Mr Lamphiear of his prisoner on Tuesday night and took him across the line for the purpose of inflicting punishment on him that might stand as a warning to Chinese invaders. They cut off part of his queue and hung him to a tree by the neck three times then told him to go back to New Westminster Frightened almost to death he escaped to the woods where he was found by the officer next morning

THE EAST SIDE.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MATTERS.

At a meeting of the board of directors of district No 21 Saturday evening, George Perry clerk-elect duly qualified his bonds being approved and the oath of office subscribed to by him. The delinquent list was ordered continued in the clerk's hands one week longer before delivery to the sheriff, and the selection of teachers for the fifth and primary grades was deferred for the present. A meeting of the directors of district No 31 was held Saturday evening, when Dr Foster, director-elect, and Mr C F Plympton clerk-elect, having qualified, occupied their respective positions. Owing to the continued sickness of Miss Carrie Packard teacher of the second grade and principal at the Albina school Mr or Mrs Blake was appointed to fill her position temporarily as teacher, Miss Lizzie Wilson teacher of the third grade, to act as principal

NOTES

Thirty six members were added to the Baptist church last month by baptism.

Miss Packard has passed the crisis of her sickness and is making good progress toward recovery

At the morning service of the Episcopal church yesterday the rite of baptism was administered to four infants

The case of Turner vs. Prettman for the recovery of a horse was called in Justice Simpson's court Saturday but was continued till the 20th, in deference to the defendant

The society of railroad conductors, having transferred their headquarters from The Dalles to Ross hall East Portland, met at that place for the first time yesterday afternoon.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Captain J. T Apperson of Oregon City has a very valuable collection of animals in his stock farm. They consist of four young Hambletonian stallions, two Hambletonian mares and twenty-eight head of thoroughbred Jersey cattle The cattle he values at $6000 at least.

A Bush of Salem received by the last steamer from California a fine cow of the Guernsey breed, one of Pierce's Yerba Buena herd Mr Bush already had two or three head of the same breed which is a rare and a costly one on this coast. He is very proud of his little herd of Guernseys, and future state fairs will be sure to see him and them.

A large amount of fine live stock, including sheep and horses, was disposed of last Friday at public sale on Charles Buck's ranch, near Prescott, W. T. A large number of buyers were present. Bidding was spirited and everything brought good prices, aggregating a total of nearly $3000. A band of grade sheep, 825 in number, brought $2 75 a head, 275 blooded ewes brought $2 25 each, 101 blooded bucks an average of $4 75 each. "Alwood, Jr." sold for $520 and common horses brought big prices.

The Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 16, 1885.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The following statement has been put in circulation:

We hereby agree to furnish THE DAILY OREGONIAN to Mr. Riley at the same price as charged Mr. Markey, the former contractor, that is, five cents per copy. And he is authorized to sell them at ten cents per copy.

H. L. PITTOCK,
Manager OREGONIAN Publishing Co.

The above will show that it is the intention of the manager of THE OREGONIAN Publishing Co. to force THE DAILY OREGONIAN to be sold at ten cents per copy on the Oregon & California railroad trains. This I refuse to do. When they make such terms as will enable me to sell the paper at their established price, five cents per copy, I will handle them.

C. RILEY,
Railroad News Contractor.

The above statement by Mr. Riley conveys to the public, and was intended by him to convey, an erroneous impression as to a business matter between THE OREGONIAN and himself. He has acquired the right to sell newspapers on the trains of the Northern Pacific, the O. R. & N. and O. & C. railroads. His right to sell on the O. & C. has just been acquired from a former contractor. It is the desire of the proprietors of THE OREGONIAN that the paper shall be sold everywhere for five cents. Such was the original arrangement with the former contractor for its sale on the O. & C. But, after a time, he declined to sell it for five cents, and said he would charge ten. He was then informed that if he sold the paper for ten cents he could not have it from the office at the discount allowed to news dealers. Therefore he has been paying the office five cents and selling at ten, though we would have preferred greatly to let him have it at news agents' rates, on condition that it be sold at five.

A few days ago Mr. Riley succeeded to the former contractor's right to sell on the O. & C. When he was told he could have the paper at agents' rates, on condition that he would sell it at five cents, he attempted to answer this with the bluster that "if he paid us for the paper it was none of our damned business what price he sold it for." From that conclusion we dissented. He was reminded that the paper had been furnished him to sell on the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific, even below regular rates made to agents, on his promise that he would sell it for five cents, but he had not kept his agreement. On the contrary he had long been perpetrating a swindle both on the office and on the public, by selling the paper at ten cents, and often at fifteen, on pretense that change could not be made, and we did not want that sort of business done on the O. & C. Then he said he would try to get his boys to sell at five cents, but couldn't be with them, couldn't control them, and more stuff of that kind. After an infinite deal of twaddle on his part, with continual attempts at dodging and equivocation, two propositions were made to him. One of them was to the effect that if he would give us assurance that the paper should be sold at five cents he should have it at the reduced rate given to all agents, namely three cents a copy. The other proposition was intended to meet on the O. & C. the swindling game that he practices on the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific, in other words, to prevent him from getting the paper at a low rate under verbal promise of selling at five cents, and then dishonestly charging ten cents for it. With his customary duplicity he has given to the public one of the propositions and suppressed the other—thus endeavoring to give out the false impression that the manager of THE OREGONIAN insists on having the paper sold on the cars at ten cents, when, in fact, the paper has long been outraged and the public has long been swindled by Mr. Riley's action in charging ten cents for it contrary to his agreement with the office.

He now says in his card to the public that when the manager of THE OREGONIAN "makes such terms as will enable him to sell the paper at the established price, five cents per copy, he will handle it." He can get the paper at any time on precisely the same terms made to all other news agents, all of whom, so far as we know, sell at five cents. But he must sell at five cents as others do, and not insist on leaving open a loop hole in the agreement as to the O. & C. through which he can extend to that road the swindle both upon the public and THE OREGONIAN which he practices in his transactions on the O. R. & N. and the Northern Pacific. Multitudes who have traveled over those roads know that they have been obliged to pay ten cents for the paper, and in some instances fifteen. This swindle shall not be carried to the O. & C. with THE OREGONIAN'S consent. If Mr. Riley will sell the paper for five cents he shall have it for three—the rate charged to all other news dealers; but if he is going on to charge ten cents for it he shall pay the office five cents or not sell it at all. And besides this, inasmuch as he has broken his agreement as to selling the paper on the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific, he has been informed that a bond to sell it at five cents on the O. & C. —if the paper is furnished him at the discount to news-dealers—will be required. We want no more bad faith and no more swindling.

General Francis A. Walker has been lecturing on the results of the last census before the Lowell Institute of Boston, and has called attention again to the preponderance of women in the east and of men in the west, the diminution of marriages in both sections, and the increasing number of children in families—facts which are strongly affecting the population of the country. "The majority of children born in Boston are of foreign, chiefly of Irish parentage," says General Walker, "and nearly the same result would follow an investigation of western cities. In rural New England most of the energetic young men go west, or to other cities, before marrying, and in a town of 500 inhabitants only one marriage had taken place in a year and not a child had been born in the village during that year." From this General Walker argues that as immigration pours in, the country must become more and more foreign, and the American element gradually disappear.

At a complimentary dinner recently tendered to Senator Payne of Ohio, he spoke of the electoral commission, of which he was a member, and said that if the presidential controversy had not been settled by the commission civil war would have been the result, as 500,000 men were ready and willing to adjust the matter by arms. He was chairman of the committee that considered the bill which established the tribunal, and was offered political advancement if he would report adversely on the bill. He refused because he believed the commission was for the interests of the country at large.

On Saturday Mr. Blaine called on President Cleveland. The meeting was cordial, and the two were closeted together nearly an hour. And now the maddening thought rises in the office-seeking mind whether Blaine has not a positive influence with the administration. What else can it be that so delays the appointments?

Has not the era of reform really come? "Brick" Pomeroy proposes now to start a democratic newspaper in Washington, one "to herald the rising of democratic reform and the era of public decency."

IMPATIENT PILGRIMS.

The office-seekers who have gone as pilgrims to Washington are waiting with decreasing hope and increasing impatience. They are beginning to look each other in the face and inquire, "What are we here for?" The usufruct once apparently so near, seems distant. On the part of that president whom they labored so hard to elect there is an indifference to their wants and merits which strikes them as monstrous ingratitude. It never entered their thoughts that it could be necessary to do anything more than call on the president and inform him what offices they had selected, and the appointments would instantly be made. But now they are told that they must wait till the terms of present incumbents expire. This is slow business. Hendricks has tried to help them, but has failed. Meantime in all the hotels of Washington the significant and suggestive sentence is placarded: "Guests must procure meal tickets before entering the dining rooms." And this under a democratic administration and the treasury in sight, with that great surplus in it!

The other day a delegation of Minnesota democrats went to see the president. After some formal talk the party fell into more familiar conversation. "I suppose," said the president, "you want to talk things over a little." The visitors timidly admitted that such was the case. "Well," said the president, "what do you want, anyway?" And before they could formulate their wishes, he went on thus: "The situation for democrats is a choice between rushing in and taking all the offices now as soon as they can get them, or waiting to fill them till they become vacant by due course of time. If we pursue the former course we may be elected out of power in 1888. If we take the latter we shall give the country a good business administration and deserve to be retained in power. Now I think I shall practice civil service reform, pure and simple, and with that determination I want my democratic friends to help me by standing between the administration and office seekers, to keep them off as far as possible." This was not what the brethren went for, and it was cold comfort indeed. What could be more frigid than a request by the president addressed to persons who had come to him to get office, to help him by standing between his administration and the office seekers? All reports from Washington say there is much irritation and profanity about the hotel corridors on the part of those who went there under expectation of receiving immediate reward. A few days ago a delegation of local politicians went to the White House to press the claims of a man named Luttrell for recorder of deeds at Washington, to displace the noted colored brother, Fred Douglass. After the spokesman had said all he had to say a pause was made in the conversation to allow the president to give his views. His first remark was: "Why, gentlemen, I didn't know there was a vacancy in that place." Beyond this not a word was drawn from him and the delegation went away chagrined at their failure. Among the pilgrims at Washington many are those who have particular anxiety to take charge of the American eagle in foreign countries. But at the state department everything is conducted with freezing ceremony. Unless accompanied by a senator or representative the average citizen cannot obtain access to Mr. Bayard without long waiting and extreme difficulty. The discouragements are extreme.

It is yet too soon to conclude that Mr. Cleveland will adhere strictly to the policy of making no appointments except as terms of present incumbents expire. The pressure upon him has not yet fairly begun. After the administration gets settled a little the real importunities of the office-seekers will begin. But since most official tenures last only four years, nearly all the republicans in the service will doubtless be superseded by democrats before the close of Mr. Cleveland's term. In many cases, however, it will be hopeless waiting for those who have now rushed to Washington. They are beating the bush; others may get the birds. The office-seeker who returns home without his office will be quite crestfallen, and some other democratic brother will be very likely to put in for the office before it becomes vacant. And then the poor man may realize the force of The Preacher's words: "Then I looked on the works that my hands had wrought and on the labor that I had labored to do: and behold all was vanity, and there was no profit under the sun."

WHAT IS LIQUOR LICENSE?

The favorite argument of the prohibitionists against the system known as "high license" is this, viz: "If the liquor traffic is wrong under low license it is wrong under high license. The moral character of the traffic is not changed one iota. Nothing is changed but the price paid by it for protection by government. We may compromise with our neighbor over a disputed claim to property in preference to going to court, and nobody is any the worse for it—except the lawyer. But compromise with sin is all wrong. When it comes to haggling and bargaining with the devil, he will get the best of us every time."

This statement is taken from The Voice, national prohibition organ, published at New York. It is the fruit of a curious confusion of ideas, uttered in the tone that habitually gives to the prohibition movement the quality of a zealous or canting religious crusade, and therefore repels all who are not closely connected with the churches that have Puritan lineage and character.

The confusion of ideas arises from total misconception of the nature and purpose of what is usually called license. Perhaps the term license, as used to designate a liquor tax, is itself misleading; and yet it ought to mislead no one not phenomenally dull. License is not "a price paid by the liquor traffic for protection by government." It is burden, precisely in the nature of a tax, imposed upon the traffic by the government. When this tax is made high it tends, incidentally, to suppress some of the evils and abuses that attend unrestricted sale, and herein there may be an attendant benefit, but the leading object of the tax is revenue—the question being whether liquors shall be sold freely, without tax or other burden, or whether, since they are sold, the sale shall be burdened by a tax which, while it tends in many particulars to hold the traffic in check, will yield as large a revenue as possible.

The whole sophistry of the prohibition argument against high license is based on the assumption that that what is called license (whether high or low) is a price paid by the liquor traffic for protection by the government. But the traffic has this protection without license, and license is only an added burden. Men talk as if the traffic could have no existence were it not for the license system. But in fact this system takes a traffic already in existence—a traffic that has been in existence from time immemorial. One of our states—Ohio—has a constitution that prohibits license. Are no liquors, then, sold in Ohio? If license is the price paid by the traffic for protection by government, has it no protection in Ohio where there can be no license? The fact is that in the absence of special laws to the contrary men are and always have been as free to sell whisky as to sell wheat or pork, and what is called license confers no additional privilege. On the contrary, it places a restriction, it imposes a burden, on a traffic previously free.

The advocates of high license want to make this burden as heavy as possible. They want to impose on the traffic all the tax it will bear. If thereby they shut up some of the saloons they are not sorry. But, since they are men of practical judgment, they know that an article for which there is so wide a demand will be supplied, and then the question arises whether the traffic shall be free or whether it shall pay a tax, and moreover how heavy the tax shall be. They know that prohibition and free whisky are to a certain extent synonymous terms. If you attempt to prohibit, of course the tax must be given up, and yet you cannot enforce prohibition in any community where liquors are largely in demand. The rural districts have little need of any kind of liquor legislation, because among them there is little demand for liquors. Only in the towns and cities could prohibition be actually needed, yet in the towns and cities no prohibitory law ever was or ever will be obeyed. Where the demand for liquors is large the liquors will always be at hand to supply it. In such places prohibition makes the liquor traffic practically free, as it has done in the towns and cities of Maine, Kansas and Iowa, and in like manner the refusal to grant license makes it free, as in Ohio.

On the 7th of March, 1850, Grover Cleveland was a clerk on a salary of $75 a year in the country store of a Deacon McVickar in Fayetteville, Onondaga county, New York. On that day Daniel Webster made his memorable speech in the United States senate, in which he foretold the result of secession in language which can never be forgotten while American history is read. In the audience that listened to his burning words were several of the most active participants in that secession, and many of the greatest minds that this country has possessed. Three of these incipient secessionists still live: Jefferson Davis, R. M. T. Hunter and David L. Yulee. Hannibal Hamlin remains as the solitary survivor from the north. Among them were Dickinson and Seward of New York, Bell of Tennessee, Benton of Missouri, Calhoun of South Carolina, Cass of Michigan, Clay of Kentucky, Corwin and Chase of Ohio, Dayton of New Jersey, Douglas of Illinois, Hale of New Hampshire, Houston of Texas, King of Alabama and Soule of Louisiana—all mighty names and all now dead. Events have flown quickly by and time has wrought wonderful changes, but few who lived in those days and among such men would have dreamed that the 13 year old country clerk would attain the goal not one of them could reach. Such are the possibilities of life in our republic.

The Boston Herald is a representative of the independent-mugwump-democratic pseudo aristocracy crowd that supported Mr. Cleveland for the presidency. This statement by it, therefore, is characteristic: "We are disposed to agree with Mr. Beecher that President Cleveland would have done better to omit the passage in his inaugural address giving his sanction to the anti-republican anti-Chinese policy. Any glory to be won in that field may be left to statesmen of the Denis Kearney and James G. Blaine school."

The appointment of General Fairchild of New York to be first assistant secretary of the treasury is thought to be very significant. He is a working member of the executive committee of the Civil Service Reform Association and one of the board of examiners for New York city. He made an argument before a committee of the last congress in favor of the repeal of the four years' tenure law.

It is reasserted that John Langdon, the first president pro tem of the United States senate, in announcing the election of Washington, used precisely the language of Mr. Edmunds in announcing the election of Cleveland.

Mr. Watterson mournfully says through the Louisville Courier-Journal: "'Turn the rascals out' was well enough a few months ago. But where are the rascals now? They are all swearing that they are democrats."

THE STAGE.

THE TIVOLI.—The new and highly successful [illegible] drama of the "Heart of the Siskiyou, or The Early Days of California," will receive its initial performance to-night at the Tivoli. New scenery has been painted, and the company augmented to give a full and complete cast of the famous play. The story of this drama [illegible] interesting and the characters true to life, not like the old-fashioned pictures given of western scenes. It is a natural and vivid delineation of the ever memorable days of '49, the characters being flesh and blood creations and entirely different from the scalp-taking and life-drawing heroes found in the old style of other plays. It will be produced with every regard to dramatic effect.

THE CASINO.—To-night and to-morrow night "Girofle-Girofla" will be presented for the last [illegible] with Miss Winston as Marasquin and Miss [illegible] in the title role. THE STAGE

THE TIVOLI—The new and highly successful [illegible] of the "Heart of the Siskiyou," or "The Early Days of California," will receive its initial performance to-night at the Tivoli. New scenery has been painted, and the company augmented to give a full and complete cast to the famous play. The story of this drama is very interesting and the characters true to life, not like the oldfashioned pictures given of western scenes. It is a natural and vivid delineation of the ever memorable days of '49, the characters being flesh and blood creations and entirely different from the scalp taking and knife-drawing heroes found in the old style of border plays It will be produced with every turn to dramatic effect.

THE CASINO.—To-night and to-morrow night "Girofle-Girofla" will be presented for the last time with Miss Winston as Marasquin and Miss [illegible] in the title role On Wednesday night the first production in this city of the "Queen's Lace Handkerchief" for which extensive and costly preparations have been made. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

WAITER CUT BY HIS BOSS—About 10 o'clock last night H. Bodmer, a waiter, went into the Morrison street coffee house, between Fourth and Fifth, and attacked the wife of the proprietor, A. G Wells. She ran out the back door, thence to the street, and thence back into the restaurant, closely followed by Bodmer The woman screamed for help, and shouted "Don't let him kill me!" Her husband seized Bodmer, but was knocked or thrown down As soon as he got to his feet he ran for some weapon, and taking up a bread knife cut Bodmer over the head, making a gash about four inches long which bled profusely Policeman Nash, who at some distance heard the woman's screams, arrived just in time to prevent Wells carving the waiter to pieces Both were taken to the city jail Dr A C Panton was called and dressed Bodmer's wound. A charge of disorderly by fighting was entered against Wells, and he was released on light bonds Bodmer was locked up for the night. His excuse for the attack on the woman was that she had "gone back on him," and he indulged in a great deal of talk concerning his criminal relations with her, so that those around police headquarters were sorry the knife hadn't struck toward the root of his tongue

TILLAMOOK'S ISOLATION—Some time since THE OREGONIAN published a statement concerning the extreme difficulty of getting supplies into Tillamook bay and the adjacent country Relative to the impassable road a resident of Oretown, Tillamook, who subscribes for the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, asks "Whether the owner or owners of a toll road have the right to obstruct, or in any way debar the progress of travel on their road at any season or time that they see fit, to prevent the road from being cut up by that travel" Such is the case with us, in this out of the way corner of Oregon At present the road in question, the Grand Ronde and Sand Lake wagon road, is a disgrace to the community and its owner We depend upon this road to get our supplies, as our bar is neither surveyed nor buoyed, and then with all this drawback to prosperity to be compelled to do without supplies because the owner of the only road does not want it damaged by travel. I think it is time some one should say a word in behalf of those who suffer the oppression." As the steamer A. B Field is soon to begin regular trips from Astoria to Tillamook, and the rainy season is well over, perhaps the toll road will be opened.

GIANT POWDER STORY—"Discovery made this morning that some dynamite-fiends tried to blow up steamer Telephone, and they got onto the stuff just in time to save her." That was the story that came to an OREGONIAN reporter when he got down to the office yesterday afternoon It had been told by several people along the wharves. After two hours of investigation the reporter learned how the rumor got its start. Just before the boat pulled out, a logger living down the river came to the gang-plank with some giant powder in a gunnysack, which he wanted to use to blast out stumps on his clearing The purser refused to allow the powder to be carried aboard, as the steamer had not been licensed to carry combustibles, and the logger, who was in a hurry to get back, made considerable fuss over it. That was all The customary Sunday's dullness alongshore was not broken.

WANTS HIM TO DISGORGE—Sheriff Billings of Thurston county, W T., who, the telegraph announced, has gone to Victoria to interview his absconding deputy, gives his reasons for taking the trip as follows "Harmon took with him about $1300, for which I am responsible on my official bond. My errand to Victoria is to see Harmon, and endeavor to compromise with him I don't think he will insist on keeping all of the money, and every dollar that he returns is so much clear gain to me" It is more than likely Mr Billings' trip will turn out useless, says the Seattle Chronicle, as a thief who steals money and skips to a foreign land with it is not the kind of a chap that would return the stolen money just for the asking.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.—Mike Cleary, the noted pugilist who has been fighting with some Pacific coast sluggers in San Francisco, is said to be a passenger on the incoming steamer Sporting men here are inclined to the opinion that Cleary wants to meet Dave Campbell, of whom he has heard considerable Pete Lawlor, who was Campbell's victim in his first fight, has praised Dave highly to the fraternity in San Francisco, and indeed Lawlor gave Dave such a reputation that when the latter went to San Francisco a few weeks ago, none of the local pugilists were anxious to measure strength and skill with him. A match between Campbell and Cleary is among the possibilities.

BREATHING FRESH AIR. Many citizens are realizing what an opportunity is offered to enjoy a breath of fresh air and get a magnificent view of Portland, the rivers and the towns adjacent to the metropolis. The city park, now accessible from B street to pedestrians and vehicles, affords a respite from the cares of business and good fresh air The park is in a rough state, but it is nevertheless an enjoyment to anyone to be able to reach an elevated point without difficulty, and once at the highest point, or even at any turn of the winding roads thereto, obtain a view of the surrounding country Hundreds visited the park yesterday

FIRE AT SPRAGUE—J Stuart Wilson's residence at Sprague, W. T, with its entire contents, was destroyed by fire last Thursday night. The family were absent at the time. The first persons to arrive at the fire burst in the front door in hopes of saving something, but the flames and smoke, which were already breaking through the roof, drove them back, and not an article of any description could be saved The loss is placed at $2000 insured for $1200 in the Washington and Tacoma—$500 on the building, which was finished only a few months since, and $700 on clothing and household effects

FIRST POINT IN THE CASE—Coming across the ferry last night were three foreigners, evidently laden with something stronger than Frau Wirthlin's good beer and wine, and some of their attempts at wit were absolutely excruciating One of them, however, whose brains were not so completely befuddled as the others, perpetrated the following "Well, Ole studied lah, and (hic) I can give yees all the pints. The first pint, moind ye, that yes to hev in this case is a pint o' whisky"

DECISIONS TO BE ANNOUNCED—In the state circuit court to-day morning Judge Smith will announce decisions in the following cases O P Lent et al vs Jas A. Chapman et. al, on demurrer to complaint. Fisk & McMillen vs the O R & N Co, demurrer to complaint. Ah Lop vs Tong Yuen, motion for a new trial Peter Fredricksen vs. the Willamette Iron Works, motion to strike out parts of answer

CLEANED AND BEAUTIFIED—The Northern Pacific general passenger office, No 2 Washington street, got through spring house cleaning yesterday, and Messrs. Charlton, Carson and Lincoln are ready to receive and entertain their personal friends and those of the company The walls of the office have been adorned with very handsome photographic views of Yellowstone park and other scenes along the "Wonderland route"

NAVONI'S OPERA.—Last night the first full stage rehearsal of "Lydia's Dream," the new opera composed by Prof. J. M. Navoni, was given at the New Market It is full of pretty airs and fine choruses, and ought to go with a snap There is an ensemble of fifty voices and an orchestra of sixteen It will be rehearsed every night this week, so that there may be a finished performance at the first public production next Monday night.

INCREASING MEMBERSHIP—At the services of Grace Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning, five persons were received by certificate and five on probation, making twenty-nine received during the present month Thirty additional chairs were placed in the audience room of the chapel yesterday to accommodate the increasing congregation

IMPROVING.—THE OREGONIAN'S correspondent at Olympia, writing under date of Saturday, says that James P. Peck, the Portland sewing machine agent shot in the jaw last week is getting along as well as could be expected, but could hardly be considered out of danger yet. His assailant has been released on bonds

Prohibition in South and North

New York Tribune

In some of the southern states remarkable progress toward absolute prohibition is being made by local option One county after another has been cut off until in several states there is a prospect that the liquor traffic may be entirely prohibited. In that region it is a noteworthy fact that the democratic managers are content to pursue the course which republicans in many northern states pursue, they leave the people of each locality to decide as they choose on the liquor question irrespective of politics. In the northern states prohibition would have been quite as easy if the advocates of prohibition had not chosen to serve the democratic party rather than their cause, and so put forward political issues which for the present render their success impossible

SALMAGUNDI

Few people know that Portland's new charter places 140 acres that were formerly in the city limits outside of them. Of course the owners of this land are well aware of the fact and are somewhat free spoken in their denunciation of the way in which it was brought about. This tract of land is situate just north of Guild's lake and a considerable portion of it is at certain seasons of the year covered with water. Still it is the best of soil and is considered very valuable. The portion not subject to inundations was laid off into town lots and streets were dedicated to the public use, although there was no public there to use them. Consequently when the owners of this property found themselves once again relegated to country obscurity they felt that an injustice had been done them. One of these men, a prominent citizen said yesterday to an OREGONIAN reporter that he believed it was the result of a trade on the part of some members of the Multnomah delegation in the lower house. One of them wanted to close up an existing road along the river bank between that and Guild's lake, which could not be done as long as that tract of land was in the city limits.

The average miner and prospector cares as little for hardships and privations as can well be imagined. Mr Howard Loomis, a searcher for gold in the Pend d'Oreille country, became tired of sitting quietly in his snow-bound camp unable to do any work or have any amusement and one day last week determined to visit the nearest settlement which was Colville, W T. The distance was some fifty-five miles over an unused mountain trail every trace of which was obliterated by the deep and drifted snow. To lose his way meant hopeless plodding along until a fall over a precipice or the more certain death from sleep should come upon him. There were no camping places along the road and the country abounded with wolves and wild cats. Yet this hardy miner scarcely bestowed a thought upon all these dangers, any one of which would be sufficient to deter from such a journey the dwellers in cities. He tied on his snowshoes and with a few provisions and a pair of blankets on his back set out Tuesday morning on his lonely and perilous journey to Colville. Thursday noon he took off his shoes about two miles out from Colville where he first met a beaten path, after passing two nights in the company of wolves, and wrapped in his blanket, his bed being the fleecy snow and the starry heavens his canopy.

A Chinese funeral one day last week at Seattle was celebrated in an entirely unlooked for manner. There were the usual elaborate ceremonies over the body before starting to the grave but nothing unusual occurred until this last resting place was reached. Here it is the custom to burn the clothes and other personal effects of the deceased in order that in their impalpable state they may the better be made use of by the spirit of the body that formerly possessed them. There was no deviation from this custom at this funeral. After the Celestial had been packed carefully under the ground the regulation distance and the headboard put where the Caucasians put the footboard, the Oriental trappings were piled upon the grave and the match applied. Besides the Chinamen present there was a crowd of curious whites and all gathered close around the funeral pyre to watch the closing ceremonies. Suddenly, as though a thunderbolt had been launched from the clear sky above there was a loud explosion scattering the fire in every direction and sending the frightened lookers-on rolling and stumbling over the cemetery grounds. The Chinamen did not return. That an evil spirit had taken possession of their poor friend was plain enough to them. But it afterwards transpired that the dead man had left some giant powder wrapped up in an old coat, which the executors of his estate had failed to find.

A report comes up from Oysterville that certain parties are destroying small oysters by the thousands of baskets at the Necma flats in Shoalwater bay by culling near shore and dumping the culls over where they are sure to die. The attention of the county commissioners of Pacific county has been called to the matter and they have announced their determination to prosecute the first offender who can be apprehended. Persons engaged in this devastating work are as short sighted as they are destructive. In culling from natural beds they usually save one large oyster and throw away from ten to fifty when with a little pains taken in planting out the cullings they would soon have plenty of the best quality of bivalves. [illegible] the recently discovered beds of what are called here "New York clams" from their resemblance to the species so common on the Atlantic coast. These clams are capable of attaining the size of a man's hand but few so large are ever seen here. On the contrary, those which are sent to this market are very much smaller, some, indeed, as little as the half of one's thumb. If such [illegible] there can be little doubt that in a few years all will have disappeared.

Several editors of Washington territory exchanges are busying themselves in writing articles urging the farmers to transform the eastern part of the territory into one vast sugar plantation. Not cane sugar, or even the splendid saccharine sweetness that exudes from the maple tree in springtime but a newly discovered substitute for both products and also for glucose. The common box elder is the plant that is to bring about this [illegible] revolution, and open up a great country alike to the benefit of the capitalist and laborer. [illegible] It is a hardy tree and a rapid grower and farmers are advised to give up raising wheat and hereafter devote their whole time to the cultivation of the box elder Indeed the resources of Washington territory are not half known

Tom Day a [illegible] W T constable must have been reading "Deadwood Dick, or the Sureshot of the Black Hills," the other day when he went into a Prescott saloon and started out on a rollicking reckless career as a bold, bad man. Bound upon different portions of his anatomy were three revolvers and two bowie knives and while with one hand he stroked his fierce mustache with the other he gently fondled a double-barreled shotgun. He opened the ball by ruining the drinking glasses and the French plate mirrors behind the bar with the two charges in his shotgun Drawing two of the revolvers, he slapped an inoffensive looking little man named Armstrong, but the next moment he measured his length on the floor. Tom Day night have been appropriately called Tom Night from the darkness that surrounded his optic when Armstrong stopped toying with him and he seemed very glad when the sheriff came in and rescued him from total annihilation. Since this little episode Constable Tom Day of Eureka Flat has resigned his badge and retired to the sequestered life of a private citizen.

Up in Walla Walla, says the Union of that place, it is a great deal of trouble to find democrats who are pleased with Cleveland's civil service reform utterances and practice. He has been president ten days exclusive of Sundays and the rascally republicans still are in possession of the post-office, land office and other good things in Walla Walla. Such conduct on the part of the first democratic president in a score and four years is unbearable, particularly as the bourbon democrats are dying of old age, dying too without a taste of the fatness of office

The stern wheel steamer Gazelle which was burned last Thursday on the Stelaguamish river was built at Portland and was well known on the Columbia river. [illegible] it was sold to Puget sound parties and transferred to those waters At the time it was burned its owners were Captains [illegible] of Seattle. She was valued at [illegible] and insured for [illegible]

"Where are you taking me to?" asked a chronic drunk of the policeman who arrested him last night for disorderly conduct "I'm taking you to the [illegible] office of the chief of police," was the reply. "Well that's all right," said the [illegible] "but I want you to distinctly understand that the office seeks the man and not the man the office."

THE ORIGIN OF THE Y M C A

At the First Congregational church Dr E R Marvin gave a sketch of the origin of the association of young men which has now belted the entire world with its influence As the history of the association from the beginning is hard to obtain and may be of interest to many that portion of the address is reproduced

According to Knight's England (Chap CVIII) there were societies of young men banded together for religious work in London in the corrupt age of the English restoration but those societies were short lived After them came The Association of Christian Young Men of Oxford University A man once said to John Wesley, who was at that time a student in Lincoln college "You cannot serve God alone You must find companions or make them" Acting upon the suggestion, Wesley gathered around him a few Christian students and with this organized what was known as The Godly Club The two Wesleys Harvey and Whitefield were the leaders in this movement The Holy Club did a great and noble work but mainly among students in the colleges. The Young Men's Christian Association of to-day came later A young man came to London in 1837, and became a clerk in the wholesale house of Mr George Hitchcock He was an earnest Christian and had already led a large number of young men to Christ There were with him in the employment of Mr Hitchcock eighty young men not one of whom was a professor of religion—some of them were profligate The young man determined at once to do something for the reformation of his associates, and his first prayer to God was for a Christian companion The prayer was answered and now two young men entered into a mutual agreement to give themselves to the great work of saving the godless young men of London They had a prayer meeting after business hours and to it they invited their fellows clerks The meeting was at first very small but God blessed it and soon it began popular among the young men and a number came out in the [illegible] thought best to organize [illegible] was the first direct step in the direction of the Young Men's Christian association The meetings became crowded and it was necessary to move into larger apartments Mr. George Hitchcock, the employer of these young men, was a church of England man, and very naturally disliked whatever did not grow out of or flow into his sect but it was resolved to ask his assistance. After special prayer a committee waited upon him, and after some discussion he was prevailed upon to help the young men in their work He gave them large rooms and helped them in many ways to reach the young men of the large business houses of the city All this grew into a permanent organization which called itself the Society for improving the spiritual condition of the young men engaged in the drapery and other trades. In six months the name was changed to the Young Men's Christian Association The association met for some time in Radley's hotel and then was compelled by reason of their numbers to move into the Literary institute at Leicester square Then it went to Freemason's hall Still it grew and soon it was compelled to take up its abode in the Centenary hall and now it fills at its great public meetings Exeter hall Mr Hitchcock became the firm friend of the association during the rest of his life and did much for its support The movement passed from London to the cities of the continent, and now it has spread all over America At the Tenth International conference of the Young Men's Christian Association of the World held in Berlin 300 delegates were present and 2675 associations reported from Europe Asia America Australia and the islands of the Pacific The associations all over the world now have a membership of 200,000 There are associations in 181 American colleges All these great associations in our large cities grew out of the clerk's bedroom in St Paul's churchyard London about forty [illegible] years ago

[illegible]

Our present stock many thousands of dollars.

Our store is the largest in this city, but too small to hold all our goods now here and en route.

The surplus must be disposed of, and we wish to again call attention to this matter, and to emphasize the fact that the stock displayed is the best and cheapest ever offered in this market.

RESTAURANT, HOTEL AND HOUSEKEEPERS

Are informed that we have just received 98 crates of White Granite and Decorated Crockery, direct from Liverpool, and our stock being already too large, we are offering articles in this line at a very slight advance on invoice rates.

OUR LAMP STOCK

Cannot be equaled on this coast for completeness in variety and cheapness. Our rich Gold, Ebony and French Bronze Library Lamps and Chandeliers evidently meet all requirements, judging from the continued demand and large sales both in the city and country.

SATURDAY March 14

Th[illegible] At this date last year [illegible] weather was [illegible] short [illegible] time The entire coast is [illegible] warm weather California [illegible] of undue dryness

Jobbers have reported a very satisfactory trade for the week and [illegible] the [illegible] orders being free The produce markets are quiet and with no price [illegible] Wheat [illegible] in a sluggish way foreign markets dropping under calmer political feeling

The [illegible] men have been endeavoring ever since the act of 1884 became a law to obtain a decision of the courts as to its constitutionality A test case was made by the arrest of a manufacturer for a violation of the law who was at first tried and convicted in the general sessions before Recorder Smyth who although inclined to hold that the act was unconstitutional felt bound to follow a decision of the general term of the second department affirming its constitutionality The conviction was appealed to the general term of the supreme court in the first department New York city which affirmed it March 4

American [illegible] threatened in London with a new competitor in shape of Belgian flour Now that France is putting an increased duty on foreign flour Belgian millers who have hitherto done a lively trade there will find that market cut off so they are looking to London and other English centers for a market Thus it happens that the millers of Louvain (Belgium) who are among the most progressive on the continent, having been the first to adopt roller milling have formed themselves into a syndicate for the purpose of developing an export [illegible] these millers visited London in a body, with the object of opening up business connections and there are reasons to believe they met with fair success They make a good quality of flour and Antwerp whence they draw their foreign wheat is often the cheapest market on the continent So that they will be able to compete on very favorable terms with both English and American millers The quality of this flour is to be kept up to a certain standard and will be periodically tested for that purpose just the same as is done in the Paris [illegible] market

FREIGHTS—The Remonstrant, arrived yesterday comes seeking The British Monarch loads on owners' account as previously intimated The market has less tone under advices and a total lack of any desire to take up tonnage

WHEAT—Foreign markets closed easier to-day and promise to lose all recent improvement The request for prompt shipment has apparently ceased All American markets are telegraphed as weaker even San Francisco backing down in the face of strong local influences With us buyers appear to have made a pause while holders refrain from offering any considerable quantities Prices are not quotably affected, nor are they likely to be without very strong influences not now looked for Valley is quoted $1 17½@1 20, Walla Walla $1 10 @1 12½

FLOUR—Nothing of new interest to report. Trade rules quiet with the usual request

OATS—Supplies ample and jobbers are indifferent. Quote good to choice feed 30@32½c inferior 25@28c

POTATOES—The weaker advices had no visible effect upon offerings, and to-day dealers lowered the paying price for common to 15c At this low figure sales were free but the decline may check supplies to some extent Nearly 200 000 sacks have already been forwarded to San Francisco and some estimates say the surplus is but little more than half disposed of If this be true there is no future for the market as new California will shortly be a good food article Quote 15@27½c per bushel

PUYALLUP INDIAN AGENCY March [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

It was not my intention when I left Portland to write to the press but business brought me here and I certainly was much surprised to see the progress made by the Puyallup Indians Before coming on to the reservation I asked a prominent merchant at the town of Puyallup, who has a great trade with the Indians if they were prompt in their dealings His reply was "Yes they will not order any more of your goods than they can pay for They are with very few exceptions very reliable people" They being so highly recommended I opened trade with them

The people of Oregon and even of Washington territory except those in the immediate vicinity of the reservation have no idea of the great progress made and the civilization attained by those people They are no longer siwashes, but are now entitled to be called citizens in every sense of the term They have good farms are improving them rapidly are buying many agricultural implements such as plows mowers threshers, sulky rakes etc All have wagons and teams and many of them attend church in carriages and buggies are very moral as a class and very hospitable to strangers Their houses are comfortably furnished and their children are receiving good English educations many of them speaking Latin fluently

I was invited to attend a meeting a republican rally for the purpose of nominating three candidates for chiefs or presiding officers for the ensuing year In a short time a large crowd of both sexes had assembled at the house of Mr Ed Jackson At 7 o'clock the meeting was called to order by the chairman Rev P C Stanup I J Mecker as secretary The chairman made a fine opening address Then each candidate made a fifteen minute speech besides several others who were called upon and some of them were very eloquent and able men especially when we take into consideration that only a few years ago they were illiterate children of the forest The meeting closed with the singing of "Marching through Georgia" by N Kautz the whole assembly joining in the chorus Dancing was then in order Good music not to be excelled by any ordinary band was furnished by the Indians Many of them are nice dancers dancing all our late and fashionable figures no hoodlumism whatever

They have a ferry across the Puyallup river but they intend building a bridge this summer and with the assistance of many of the whites have succeeded in getting some $2500 subscribed which will build it It will be free to all They have two churches, Presbyterian and Catholic which are sustained partly by Indians and partly by their respective denominations The government has a school here for the children wherein they are taught the common school branches together with farming and housekeeping They are soon to receive their land patents They fully deserve them now They are so far advanced now that they are capable of becoming citizens at any time They appreciate kindness from the whites and are very courteous and polite to anyone who goes among them The assistant minister of the Presbyterian church Mr P C Stanup is a young Indian who was educated at Forest Grove—very intelligent and very much of a gentleman. The prejudice existing against the Indians is certainly not deserved so far as the Puyallup people are concerned

TRAVELER

PAUPERS GOING BACK

A New York dispatch speaking of the happy effect of low ocean steamship rates from and to Europe says

The sharp reduction in the rate of steerage passage due to the competition of the Hamburg-American lines has opened the eyes of the authorities on the other side, and for the present the immigration commissioners are rejoicing to find that the boot has been transferred to the other leg and that paupers are trying to secure homes in Europe instead of imposing upon the charity of the United States. The German authorities have been compelled to issue a proclamation that paupers will not be allowed to land, and the Hamburg American Packet Company has issued a circular to its agents in which it says that the prevailing low rates of passage have been an incentive to a large number of persons to return to Europe who, having neither means of support nor funds to reach their destination have fallen a burden upon the community of the port

In view of this the police authorities of Hamburg have established a vigorous surveillance of incoming passengers and will not permit them to land compelling the company to take them back to New York The same course will be taken with passengers found to have criminal ends in view. Scrupulous care is therefore enjoined upon the agents and notice given that the company itself will scrutinize steerage passengers before admitting them to the ship lest they may be classed in either of these categories

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS

The spring elections in New York tell a significant story when compared with Cleveland's trifling plurality of last fall They have been held in forty six of the sixty counties of the state and the Albany Evening Journal presents a table of the results in detail In the forty six counties the republicans elect 574 supervisors and the democrats 401 which is a net republican gain of forty three In 1884 the democrats controlled sixteen county boards and but eleven this year while the republican boards have increased from twenty nine in 1884 to thirty four in 1885 The republicans gain Broome Dutchess Herkimer Kings Lewis Seneca Steuben and Sullivan counties Commenting upon the result the Journal says

The loss of the state of New York by a plurality of barely 1100 votes has had a wonderful effect upon the republican party Defeat has not discouraged but has made the party conscious of the folly of factional differences It has inspired the belief that united and aggressive the republican party can carry the state Were the election of last November to be repeated today we have no doubt that the republicans would sweep the state by fully 50,000 majority

As it is they have made up their minds to redeem New York at the first opportunity Never were they more in earnest or more aggressive All the old divisions are forgotten in the intense desire to right a wrong and to blot out the follies and the weaknesses of the past.

William Henry Channing invited Hawthorne to visit him in Concord at one time, and added, as an inducement, "Emerson is gone, and nobody here to bore you"

OREGON'S PAST AND FU[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

[illegible] have expected him [illegible]

[illegible] It was right and proper that the people of Portland should extend such financial aid as well as moral support as could be properly done I would not underestimate the valuable service of THE OREGONIAN in this eventful period of our history and I have no doubt that it will experience the benefit by and through an increase of population. Indirectly Portland will share whatever advantages that result from these two northwest transcontinental lines. The business men could certainly have made use of their money in other directions but according to their best judgment this was a proper enterprise to encourage and were we in the same position as we were before the completion of these great enterprises I know of none at least who would give the same encouragement (call it self interest enterprise or what you will) As long as it redounds to the glory and ultimate prosperity of Oregon and the northwest I am content [illegible] if not now it will. It may be we are too well satisfied with what we have accomplished Since Oregon has become our home we have seen the Indian canoe give place to the "Little Columbia" plying between Astoria and Portland and that to the "Lot Whitcomb" and that to the "Multnomah" and then the multitude of others such as the [illegible] The Fashion and "The Carrie Ladd" [illegible] had the Gold Hunter and the steamship Columbia of 800 tons but used to scrape her copper from her bottom as she jumped over the snags logs and trees at Swan Island bar

These obstructions were removed by the enterprise of our citizens and since that time, the city with the aid of the general government has deepened the channel so that instead of 10 feet of water we bring vessels drawing from nineteen to twenty two feet (and still greater depth will be attained) until now steamships of 3000 tons come to our wharves nearly as regularly as ferry boats

The enterprise and pluck evinced in building the portages at the Cascades and The Dalles without outside aid I contend, was creditable in a high degree yet these gentlemen furnished such excellent facilities that other teams could no longer compete with them Therefore they became obnoxious so that at each session of our legislative assembly legislation was proposed and enacted to restrain such innovations until they became tired of unappreciated enterprise sold out and two of the gentlemen left the state Others have invested their money in great railway enterprises in this new country where our population is sparse These do not now pay 2 per cent, I am told on the investment I venture to say although it may be unpopular that they should be treated with fairness and without prejudice

Some of our citizens undertook to build and did build locks at Oregon City This required considerable enterprise even with the aid the state gave of $200 000 I think they cost over $400,000 It has not been a paying investment except to the farmer who has had his wheat transported for one to two dollars a ton cheaper than ever before These locks were offered to the state last winter for $200 000 The enterprise of the gentlemen that carried through this great work of theirs has embarrassed them to an extent from which they have never recovered

A blast furnace was started some years since by some of our enterprising citizens at Oswego to demonstrate the practicability of making iron It was demonstrated it could be done but at the cost of every dollar invested while the original investors lost everything they put in It is now operated by the parties who purchased the works at a very low price and I trust it may to them prove a profitable investment.

With these examples before us of success notwithstanding some misfortunes some of the same blood and energy is left Give our citizens a little time to adjust themselves to the change of condition of things let immigration be encouraged to fill up the waste places of our hills and purchase uncultivated lands in our beautiful valleys With population will come capital and skilled labor for manufactories and new enterprises unknown to us now The periodical depression that comes upon our country every few years will pass away Thrift and prosperity will take its place Let good will towards every portion of our state be cultivated Let sectional prejudice be discouraged Portland is proud of the thriving towns growing into importance all over the state In other portions of our country each state is proud of her metropolis Massachusetts is proud of Boston the empire state of New York City Pennsylvania of Philadelphia Illinois of Chicago etc Why should not Oregon be proud of Portland Will not a large [illegible] redound to the mutual advantage of all It would be a large tax to the state and would consume a large amount of produce Our city could be made attractive to strangers who would expend large amounts of money within our borders Our climate is mild equable and healthful Our scenery is unsurpassed for its variety and beauty All these should make Oregon a chosen spot for those seeking a delightful home

The nearer ships can be brought to the farmer the higher the price for his products What is for the interest of the farmer and the interior of our state is for the interest of Portland Our interests are mutual With good will towards all and malice towards none I trust we may all go on the way to prosperity Very respectfully

A WOFUL PROPHECY

Prof Grimmer in a pamphlet published in 1879 predicted seven years of disaster and famine beginning with 1880 and ending with 1887 during which the world will be a hell of strife and carnage He said

From 1880 to 1887 will be one universal carnival of death Asia will be depopulated Europe nearly so America will lose 15 000 000 of her people Besides a plague, we are to have storms and tidal waves mountains are to toss their heads through the choicest valleys navigators will be lost by the thousands owing to the capricious deflections of the magnetic needle and islands will appear and disappear in the ocean All the beasts birds and fishes will be diseased famine and civil strife will destroy most of the human beings left alive by plague and finally two years of fire—1885 to 1887—will rage with fury in every part of the globe In 1887 the Star of Bethlehem will reappear in Cassiopia's chair the immediate results being universal war and portentous floods and shipwrecks. North America is to be again involved in civil war unless a "Napoleon" arises to quell it but during these terrible days the Pacific states

PENDLETON AND McLEAN

History of the Editor's Grievance Against the Ex Senator

CLEVELAND Ohio March 14—The Herald prints the following as interesting at this time The order [illegible] of court martial to try General Hazen recalls [illegible] its relation to the great fight between John R McLean editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Senator George H Pendleton The quarrel between editor McLean and senator Pendleton arose over General Hazen In an interview with Senator Pendleton during the heated contest of 1884 which resulted in Henry B Payne being selected to go to the senate Senator Pendleton gave the following explanation of why the Enquirer sought his downfall

A short time before General Hazen had been appointed to the chief office of the signal service Mr McLean called upon me at my residence in Cincinnati and stated that inasmuch as General Hazen was his brother in law he was very anxious to have him promoted to the head of the signal service He said that as the matter would soon be sprung he wanted all the indorsement he could get for General Hazen and desired me to write a letter sustaining the general for the position I told Mr McLean that I would be only too glad to do him any service consistent with the responsibilities of my position that I regretted it exceedingly but could not write a letter indorsing General Hazen for the position as I considered him in no manner capable of filling the same Mr McLean got very angry and threatening and I politely showed him the door He said that he would come the next day for that letter I informed him that it would be no use whatever and closed the door The next morning he called for the letter and I told him I had written no letter and would not From that moment dates the fight which Mr McLean has made upon me He has used the civil service reform bill as a club but he will find that it will yet be a boomerang

Mr George W Harris Hagerstown Maryland had suffered for some time with toothache and facial neuralgia and tried St Jacobs Oil It gave me instantaneous relief he says and I consider it a wonderful remedy.

At a recent meeting of teachers in London a resolution was unanimously adopted expressing the opinion that it is desirable that the training colleges for school teachers should be affiliated with the universities, and that for the best educational results English children should be taught by liberally educated men and women It was stated that one of the reasons why people in Scotland think so much of education is that even in the elementary schools the teachers hold university degrees
